

Post-Grant Patent Proceedings

Patent owners and third parties have several procedures available through Post-Grant Proceedings at the United States Patent & Trademark Office (USPTO), to correct or challenge a patent that has been granted. These proceedings have become an important part of litigation strategy since the enactment of the America Invents Act (AIA) in 2012. The AIA was established to create a more efficient system for reviewing and challenging the patentability of issued patents. These proceedings can be a cost-effective and time-saving alternative to litigating patent validity in federal or district courts.

Workman Nydegger attorneys have robust experience with intellectual property counseling, patent prosecution, and litigation making them very adept in defending your patents in these types of proceedings. They understand the complexities of post-grant challenges and use their breadth of knowledge to help secure your competitive advantage in the marketplace. Our attorneys also have experience working with international intellectual property counseling.

Close GDPR Cookie Settings

- Privacy Overview
- Strictly Necessary Cookies

Powered by GDPR Cookie Compliance

Privacy Overview

This website uses cookies so that we can provide you with the best user experience possible. Cookie information is stored in your browser and performs functions such as recognising you when you return to our website and helping our team to understand which sections of the website you find most interesting and useful.

Enable All Save Changes