Licensing and Transactional Work

Licensing and transactional work requires specific, practical, and tailored advice to meet the needs of your product and business, regardless of size. Workman Nydegger can provide this hand-crafted advice on intellectual property and its role in mergers, acquisitions, funding transactions, joint ventures, partnerships, and licensing transactions. We can offer expert advice on technology transactions, the leveraging of IP assets, patents, licensing revenue, increasing company profiles, and blocking competitors from entering the market space with our IP counseling.

We can help you protect your company's intellectual property through:

- Carefully prepared employment and non-competition agreements
- Consultation to help navigate the license and sale of IP-related assets
- Client IP counseling in opinions of non-infringement and patent invalidity
