Workman Nydegger Attorneys Ryan Morris and Kirk Coombs to Speak at Utah State Bar's 27th Annual IP Summit

Workman Nydegger is proud to announce that attorneys Ryan Morris and Kirk Coombs will be featured speakers at the Utah State Bar's 27th Annual IP Summit, taking place on Friday, February 21, 2025. This event brings together legal experts to explore current trends, challenges, and opportunities in intellectual property law.

Ryan Morris will contribute to the "IP Law – The Year in Review and The Year to Come" session, offering valuable insights into recent developments and trends in the field.

Kirk Coombs will join the panel discussion on "Encouraging Innovation, Diversity, and Inclusion in IP." This session will highlight strategies for fostering a more inclusive and innovative environment within the intellectual property community.

The Annual IP Summit offers a platform for thought leadership, collaboration, and education. Attendees will be able to network with peers, gain valuable insights, and discuss topics that will shape the future of intellectual property law.
